

Hand in Hand

Everyone created equally
Living in communion with each other peacefully
I'd like to think that's what our forefathers imagined
A land where we can make our dreams come true by following our passions
Where it never mattered which land we came from We're all from different lands, now it's the same one
Honoring our many different cultures and traditions
That's what makes this best place in the world to live in
Our diverse roots make for a strong foundation
It's always been the strength of this here nation
This nation of ours. Yours and mine
Where first through third worlds intertwine. Combine
To form a country that stands together as One
So butting heads with each other is getting nothing done
I'd rather see us striving to getting along. Getting more done
It's much easier when we band together as One

Hand in hand, united we stand
From different walks of life across this same land
We show strength when we join together
Enriching every life. Making our world much better

Hand in hand, united we stand
From different walks of life across this same land
We show strength when we join together
Enriching every life. Making our world much better

Hand in hand

We can make a change for the good
I'd have us all meditating & praying on Peace if I could
Or at least helping more people to realize
How hating on one another can lead to our own demise
Or how making efforts to getting along
Can manifest crystal clear harmony, like a song
Respect for every Soul, working out our differences
When we're on the same page, the possibilities are endless

That Unity is out there today in the streets
Marching for equality and Peace and fair treatment
Of our own citizens, born and raised
That show of support shows our American ways
When we stand up for the rights of our own
We bring positive change that makes us feel less alone
Like we all matter, like we're making a difference
Lifting Spirits, all for the cause and the mission
All hands on deck while we're getting it done
Check the back of any penny. Out of many, One
That One thing that begets us all
That Force within us that reflects us all
Connects us all. Since the laws of Nature say so
So maybe the Golden Rule is the way to go
Creating a path where Loving Kindness and Truth can grow
To me, it's way overdue if the Truth be told

Hand in hand, united we stand
From different walks of life across this same land
We show strength when we join together
Enriching every life. Making our world much better

Hand in hand, united we stand
From different walks of life across this same land
We show strength when we join together
Enriching every life. Making our world much better

Hand in hand, united we stand (x8)
